Question 87

Shahid

What is the best way to backup the Dynamics 365(On Premise) production environment and then restore to create a test environment.

In NAV 2009 R2 there was facility to copy the company and then restore to another server.

Question 88

J BANERJEE

As you mentioned, for NAV 2016

Step 1 - Upgrade To Business Central 14.

Step 2 - Upgrade to Business Central 2020 Release Wave 1 / Wave 2.

But Business Central 14 does not have Indian Localization.

My question is how to upgrade NAV 2016 Indian Localization to Business Central 14 ?

Question 89

Manish

Is OneDrive is accessible for free if we have premium license of Business central on cloud???

And do we need to create account on it with same login as of BC?? OR any integration require???

Question 90

Manikandan

I had tried customize workflow in BC. I followed the steps below the link https://www.linkedin.com/pulse/claim-workflow-template-mehdi-meddah/

Create a new workflow template, I had add the workflow Events and response, then select the "On Condition" Column. I had clicked the "always" Link. but empty popup had opened. here did not show any field.

Question 91

Suresh

Our customer have customers in different parts of world.

They need to have Item Names printed in local language in Sales documents.

How to achieve that?

Question 83

Josh Anglesea

Due to the holidays, I may not be in attendance for the next call. A few questions surrounding attachments/blob data.

1. “Attachments” endpoint in the standard api is actually for the “Incoming Document” feature. If a bespoke api page is developed it will use, most likely, a bespoke table. However, the intention would be to have a file passed through an api to the desired target record. Would it be possible to develop a “broker” type system where the api page uses the bespoke table in a temporary way and the attachment ends up attached to the right record?

2. If a sales return order (SRO) has line level attachments and a purchase return order (PRO) is created from the SRO can the line level attachments be passed to the SRO?

3. Using the report inbox as an example - where it has the standard detailed trial balance stored. If there is a large xlsx stored in there can it be passed as base64 via json to an endpoint? Found this fine with a less complex file type i.e. a .txt

4. How to handle creating a .zip which contains related .pdf prints when sending an email. Example being a customer statement and then sending related overdue invoices.

5. Create a page which shows all attachments relating to a master record, for example customer. Attachments can be made on the customer record but then all the documents too - sales, jobs, service etc.
